Dear Donald,

There is an undeniable pride you get from participating in college sports. I hope that your East Stroudsburg University wrestling team experience was as rewarding as ours. For the students who wrestle, it has always been an important part of their college experience. But today, the university has taken a renewed interest in the program, making its success a top priority.

Since the completion of the last season, the university has been actively searching for a new head coach to lead our students to victory. They have also purchased new wrestling mats, increased the number of roster spots and added a new graduate assistant.

While these administrative measures will help move our program in a better direction, they alone are only one piece of an important plan. To maximize our efforts, we are looking to you, our alumni to help and I think this positive momentum is something we can all get behind.

Together, we can ensure that our new coach has the resources needed to recruit the best wrestlers through generous scholarship packages and prepare them to be leaders on and off the mat. It is our goal to raise $200,000 for these efforts. To date, the Foundation has secured $125,000, but we still need your help. You can make a gift online today at www.esufoundation.org/givenow or send a check in the enclosed envelope. The next generation of Warriors is counting on you to step up and support this campaign.

While gifts of any size are appreciated, the best way to make your gift is through a four-year commitment to ensure that the new coach has a regular pipeline of resources to attract the most talented athletes to our program.

We all need to be invested in returning the ESU wrestling program to the level of greatness that once defined it. This is an extraordinary opportunity and we are confident that together, we can reach our goal.

Sincerely,
