RULES OF SCORING

The prime objective in a wrestling bout is to pin an opponent's shoulders to the mat for "an appreciable length of time" (two seconds).
Interscholastic wrestling bouts are divided into three periods of 2 minutes each. A fall in any period terminates the match.

MATCH POINTS ARE SCORED AS FOLLOWS:

Two points for all take downs by each wrestler (when a man is able to take his opponent to the mat while either his points of support or those of his opponent remain on the mat proper).
Two points for a reversal (when a man is able to completely reverse his position and gain control of his opponent).
One point for an escape (when a man goes from a position on the bottom to a neutral position).
Three points for near fall. Two points for a predicament.
A maximum of two points may be earned by a man for 2 full minutes of time advantage. (Time advantage in this case means the difference between the total time of the match and the total time of the opponent.)
